ABSTRACT

When you act as if an unrealistic physics theory is realistic and when you use or demonstrate it for educational or research purposes, then you are a fraud.

INTRODUCTION

Einstein's theory of gravity is an unrealistic theory, physicists/etc act as if it's realistic and they use or demonstrate it for educational or research purposes. Einstein knew that he couldn't visualize the curvature of space near a celestial object in a realistic 3-dimensional model, so he deliberately visualized it in an unrealistic 2-dimensional model (curved flat space). We all know that demonstration, physicists/etc demonstrate how a small ball spins around a big ball on a curved canvas and that curved canvas represents curved flat space. The small ball represents a celestial object in its orbit around a planet or a star, but that demonstration is nonsense because space is not flat. So physicists/etc are purposely fooling the public/students/governments with that unrealistic demonstration, they all act as if it's realistic and that is fraud.

Einstein's theory of gravity describes an impossible process, his theory of gravity is incorrect in several ways and I explained why in my Vixra paper 1901.0184. Physicists/etc know that they cannot visualize the curvature of space near a celestial object in a realistic 3-dimensional model, but they claim that they can mathematically substantiate that impossible process. That is nonsense, logic dictates that you cannot mathematically substantiate a process if you cannot visualize it. Einstein was a fraud because he acted as if his theory of gravity was realistic and he used or demonstrated it for educational or research purposes, and when physicists/etc also used or demonstrated it for educational or research purposes they became a fraud as well.

Physicists/etc fooled themselves that Einstein's theory of gravity was realistic because it seemed to be substantiated by calculations, experiments, observations and predictions, but that was a huge mistake.

An unrealistic physics theory cannot describe the real reason why calculations, experiments, observations and predictions are correct, physicists/etc failed to see that there must be a realistic reason why those calculations, experiments, observations and predictions were correct. So the calculations, experiments, observations and predictions were correct, but the conclusions were incorrect. And physicists/etc made an even bigger mistake when they based other physics theories on Einstein's unrealistic/fraudulent theory of gravity, because those theories became unrealistic/fraudulent as well. So physicists/etc have wasted a lot of money on science fiction education and research, governments don't realize that a lot of education and research is useless.

And that huge mistake resulted in another huge problem, when you fool yourself that an unrealistic physics theory is realistic then you will lose your sight on reality. You will start to believe in science fiction and that is how physicists/etc got lost in science fiction, they don't realize that most mysteries are man-made. That is why they cannot solve most mysteries, you cannot find or prove something if something doesn't exist. Einstein's unrealistic theory of gravity resulted in general and special relativity, spacetime, gravitational waves, massive black holes, dark matter, string theory, holographic principle, etc, so all those theories are unrealistic as well (science fiction). And because physicists/etc lost their sight on reality due to those unrealistic theories, they started to invent other unrealistic theories as well.

Physicists/etc need to admit that they are fooling the public/students/governments with Einstein's unrealistic theory of gravity, and governments need to forbid that demonstration of that unrealistic 2-dimensional model (curved flat space) because it's nonsense/fraud. Physicists/etc need to discard all unrealistic theories/conclusions, an unrealistic theory/conclusion in physics is a warning and it tells us that someone made a mistake. But I noticed that a lot of physicists/etc don't care about what I'm saying, they are purposely silent and they will keep on fooling the public/students/governments because the truth undermines their interests.

CONCLUSION

Physicists/etc don't realize that they are lost in science fiction, that is why they cannot see that most theories in modern theoretical physics are unrealistic. Physicists/etc are blinded by science fiction theories/conclusions, and that means that they are a threat to humanity. Physicists/etc have already wasted more than 100 years on science fiction education/research, Einstein's unrealistic theory of gravity resulted in the biggest fraud ever.
