

could we push a photon? no we cant because its at the speed of light or c constant for speed that is why we end up time dilating when we go at the speed of light